Thank you for your prayers! I am coming to understand that my trouble walking distances is a diabetic neuropathy issue. We will work on that in the future. As for the cancer, I begin treatments again the week after Thanksgiving. On Dec. 7 I do another brain scan to see if there is any cancer in the brain and on Dec. 18 I will be having a Pet Scan to see how much cancer there still is in the body. I am expecting both to be very good tests as results from blood tests have come back well. As soon as I get the results I will be meeting with Bishop Barron to determine my future as an active priest in the diocese. As I am gaining some strength back please continue your prayers. God bless you all.

P.S. Back pains are still a part of my morning until the pills kick in. Having masses later is much better than earlier. I hope 9:00 will not be too late for weekday masses. ~Fr. Greg

"One of the most admirable effects of Holy Communion is to preserve the soul from sin, and to help those who fall through weakness to rise again. It is much more profitable, then, to approach this divine Sacrament with love, respect, and confidence, than to remain away through an excess of fear and scrupulosity."
St. Ignatius of Loyola

School Update

The kindergarten, first and second grade SCS students began November with the celebration of All Saints Day. In order to prepare for our celebration, the children spent the week prior looking through saint books and digging into the saint card box. Because the Church has provided us with so many wonderful saints, the children had a really hard time narrowing down their selections! But once they figured it out, we found coloring book pages to match their saint and read about each saint during Religion class. The children also had to study their saints icon and figure out what symbol was associated with their saint. On All Saints Day, we gathered with the entire school in Father Mikolai Hall to give mini presentations about the saints they had chosen. The younger children named their saint and showed their saint's symbol and the older children recapped what they had learned about their saint along with showing a saint symbol. We ended the morning with hot apple cider and donuts. For next year, the children are already asking to be allowed to dress up in costume so that they can look even more like their saint! I love how we have so many beautiful mentors and spiritual guides to help teach our children the faith.

A PRAYER OF THANKSGIVING

Lord God, on this day of Thanksgiving,
We ask your blessings on our family, our friends, our home, our health—and on the food we are about to eat.

We thank you for this time together and the many gifts that you have given us.

Help us to remember in this time of bounty those less fortunate. And may your love consume us all that we might share in your glory.

Amen.
